DETAILED ACTION

Specification

1. This application does not contain an abstract of the disclosure as required by 37 CFR 1.72(b). An abstract on a separate sheet is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claims 1-3, 5-6, 8-11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by either Kuhr or Luetzow.

Regarding claims 1,2, 5,6, 10, 11,, Both art disclose a magnetized transducer for stress or torque with features of the claimed invention including the provision of various zones along an axis and means for producing magnetization longitudinally oriented in the direction of the axis (see figures 1 and 2 of Kuhr, and see claim 1, col. 12, line 46, of Luetzow.

Regarding claim 3, Luetzow show the zones being annular.

Regarding claim 8, the provision of the magnetic field component is directly the function of the applied torque or stress.

Regarding claim 9, Luetzow show a cylindrical body.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claim 12 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over either Kuhr or Luetzow.

The cited art do not specifically recite a signal processing means. It would have been obvious however, in today's technology to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify their device to add a signal processor in order to handle the signals more accurately and be able to analyze and manipulate the data in any desirable way.

6. Claims 4, 7 and 13 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

7. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
